

WASHINGTON DC

There's much more to see than the White House in the USA's capital city.

PLAY

Entry is free to all 163 acres of Smithsonian's National Zoo. Snap a photo with the lion statues at the entrance gate, grab a free activity sheet and head inside to meet giant pandas, elephants, gorillas and more. Check the daily schedule of activities, which often include fish feeding, keeper talks, seal demonstrations, carousel rides and a tide pool.
nationalzoo.si.edu

EAT

After your morning at the zoo, head over the road to Duke's Counter on Connecticut Avenue, Lebanese Taverna near the metro station, or Baked by Yael for a fresh cookie, bagel or cake pop. Somewhat of an institution, Shake Shack has several outlets in D.C. selling their much-loved hotdogs, burgers and milkshakes.

SLEEP

Stay close to all the action in Scott Circle at The Darcy hotel. While you're there, kids can check out a complimentary backpack that's both fun and educational. Through each of the five daypacks (Mini Monet, Hip Historian, Wild in the City, Darcy Detective and shoot for the stars) kids get to know different aspects of the city. At the end of the day, with their "mission" completed, kids return the backpack for a special surprise.
thedarcyhotel.com

DO

Ever wondered what a day in the life of a spy is like? At the International Spy Museum you can explore the art and science of spying. From human intelligence gathering to the evolution of imagery and signals collection methods. Kids who love to problem solve will enjoy the stories of solving international intelligence problems and through a series of mind games.
spymuseum.org

PATTAYA

Thailand's family-friendly resort coast, just 75 minutes from Bangkok

PLAY

Cartoon Network Amazone is the world's first cartoon themed water park. There are 10 cartoon-themed entertainment zones and over 25 rides. Don't miss your chance to surf at the only Flow Rider in Pattaya or take in one of the many live shows each day. For some tasty time out, head to Dexter's Laboratory to create your own gelato sensation.
cartoonnetworkamazone.com

EAT

Inspired by a tea factory in Sri Lanka, at A La Campagne serves western cuisine and there's a wide range of teas, imported from 8 countries to taste. The kids can feed the farm animals and collect free range eggs. The Hedvig playground includes a tree house to explore and a climbing net. Or you can take part in a veggie workshop designed for kids to learn about food sources through all their senses.
alacampagnepattaya.com

SLEEP

Mövenpick Siam Hotel Na Jomtien Pattaya is a 5-star hotel located 15km from the city centre. The city's biggest attractions are easily accessible and guests have direct access to the beach.. For families with younger kids there's The Little Bird's Club and you can pre-order cots, baby baths and high chairs to use. And there are panoramic sea views from all rooms.
movenpick.com/en/asia/thailand/pattaya

DO

Take a walk through the Four Regions Floating Market. The 100,000 square metre market is divided into four sections; each representing the four regions of the Thai Kingdom – north, northeast, central and south – and selling products from their respective regions. You'll find street performers and agriculture demonstrations. The market is open daily from 9am to 8pm.
au.tourismthailand.org/Attraction/Pattaya-Floating-Market-6784